

Today, we met to fix some of the concerns raised by our TA when I asked him to go over it during the lab session. During this meeting, we have fixed most, if not all, of the issues that were presented during that review session. We added a way for a user to insert/modify/delete data. We changed our UML and ERD diagrams to reflect this change as well. When we finished our new diagrams, we sent our TA -Brian Tsan- an email asking him to review our two new diagrams and see if we were on the right track.